

MIRACLES

The Spirit-given power to facilitate an act contrary to or superadded to natural law. A miracle is God stepping into His universe and setting aside the ordinary laws of nature to do something extraordinary. There is a very real temptation to seek the miraculous event rather than God Himself. Mankind has always been inclined to rely on miracles and/or signs of God's presence and working rather than trusting in Him regardless. Those who claim God uses them to perform miracles may also be tempted to emotionally manipulate their audience or to rely on showman techniques.
